Conformity Person

27. For whom the truth of suffering arises, does the truth of origin arise for that one?

For all those being reborn, during the occurrence of consciousness dissociated from craving at the moment of arising, for them the truth of suffering arises, but the truth of origin does not arise for them. At the moment of arising of craving, for them both the truth of suffering arises and the truth of origin arises.

Or else, for whom the truth of origin arises, does the truth of suffering arise for that one? Yes.

For whom the truth of suffering arises, does the truth of path arise for that one?

For all those being reborn, during the occurrence of consciousness dissociated from path at the moment of arising, for them the truth of suffering arises, but the truth of path does not arise for them. In the five-aggregate constituent realm, at the moment of arising of the path, for them both the truth of suffering arises and the truth of path arises.

Or else, for whom the truth of path arises, does the truth of suffering arise for that one?

In the immaterial-sphere of existence, at the moment of arising of the path, for them the truth of path arises, but the truth of suffering does not arise for them. In the five-aggregate constituent realm, at the moment of arising of the path, for them both the truth of path arises and the truth of suffering arises.

29. Where the truth of suffering arises, does the truth of origin arise there?

In the non-percipient being realm, there the truth of suffering arises, but the truth of origin does not arise there. In the four-aggregate constituent realm and in the five-aggregate constituent realm, there both the truth of suffering arises and the truth of origin arises.

Or else, etc.? Yes.

Where the truth of suffering arises, does the truth of path arise there?

In the realm of misery and in the non-percipient being realm, there the truth of suffering arises, but the truth of path does not arise there. In the remaining four-aggregate constituent realm and five-aggregate constituent realm, there both the truth of suffering arises and the truth of path arises.

Or else, where the truth of path arises, does the truth of suffering arise there? Yes.

30. Where the truth of origin arises, does the truth of path arise there?

In the realm of misery, there the truth of origin arises, but the truth of path does not arise there. In the remaining four-aggregate constituent realm and five-aggregate constituent realm, there both the truth of origin arises and the truth of path arises.

81. For whom and where the truth of suffering arose, will the truth of origin arise for that one there?

For the possessors of the highest path, for Worthy Ones, for those who immediately after this consciousness will obtain the highest path, for non-percipient beings, for them there the truth of suffering arose, but the truth of origin will not arise for them there. For the others, the four-aggregate constituent beings and the five-aggregate constituent beings, for them there both the truth of suffering arose and the truth of origin will arise.

Or else, for whom and where the truth of origin will arise, did the truth of suffering arise for that one there?

For those being reborn in the pure abode, for them there the truth of origin will arise, but the truth of suffering did not arise for them there. For the others, the four-aggregate constituent beings and the five-aggregate constituent beings, for them there both the truth of origin will arise and the truth of suffering arose.

For whom and where the truth of suffering arose, will the truth of path arise for that one there?

For the possessors of the highest path, for Worthy Ones, and those worldlings who will not obtain the path, for beings bound for the realm of misery, for non-percipient beings, for them there the truth of suffering arose, but the truth of path will not arise for them there. For those who immediately after this consciousness will obtain the highest path, and those others who will obtain the path, for them there both the truth of suffering arose and the truth of path will arise.

157. For whom and where the truth of suffering arises, will the truth of origin cease for that one there?

At the moment of arising of the highest path, at the moment of arising of consciousness for Worthy Ones, at the moment of arising of that consciousness immediately after which they will obtain the highest path, and for those being reborn in the non-percipient being realm, for them there the truth of suffering etc. For the others being reborn in the four-aggregate constituent realm or the five-aggregate constituent realm, during the occurrence at the moment of arising of consciousness, for them there the truth of suffering etc.

Or else, for whom and where the truth of origin will cease, does the truth of suffering arise for that one there?

For those passing away from the four-aggregate constituent realm or the five-aggregate constituent realm, during the occurrence at the dissolution moment of consciousness, in the immaterial-sphere of existence at the moment of arising of the path and of the fruition, for them there the truth of origin will cease, but the truth of suffering does not arise for them there. For those being reborn in the four-aggregate constituent realm or the five-aggregate constituent realm, during the occurrence at the moment of arising of consciousness, for them there both the truth of origin will cease and the truth of suffering arises.

For whom and where the truth of suffering arises, will the truth of path cease for that one there?

At the moment of arising of consciousness for Worthy Ones, for beings bound for the realm of misery and those worldlings who will not obtain the path, being reborn, during the occurrence at the moment of arising of consciousness, and for those being reborn in the non-percipient being realm, for them there the truth of suffering arises, but the truth of path will not cease for them there. At the moment of arising of the highest path, at the moment of arising of that consciousness immediately after which they will obtain the highest path, and for those others who will obtain the path, being reborn, during the occurrence at the moment of arising of consciousness, for them there both the truth of suffering arises and the truth of path will cease.

Or else, for whom and where the truth of path will cease, does the truth of suffering arise for that one there?

At the dissolution moment of that consciousness immediately after which they will obtain the highest path, and for those others who will obtain the path, passing away, during the occurrence at the dissolution moment of consciousness, in the immaterial-sphere of existence at the moment of arising of the path and of the fruition, for them there the truth of path will cease, but the truth of suffering does not arise for them there. At the moment of arising of the highest path, at the moment of arising of that consciousness immediately after which they will obtain the highest path, and for those others who will obtain the path, being reborn, during the occurrence at the moment of arising of consciousness, for them there both the truth of path will cease and the truth of suffering arises.

158. For whom and where the truth of origin arises, will the truth of path cease for that one there?

For beings bound for the realm of misery and those worldlings who will not obtain the path, at the moment of arising of craving, for them there the truth of origin arises, but the truth of path will not cease for them there. For those who will obtain the path, at the moment of arising of craving, for them there both the truth of origin arises and the truth of path will cease.

Or else, for whom and where the truth of path will cease, does the truth of origin arise for that one there?

At the moment of arising of the highest path, for those who immediately after this consciousness will obtain the highest path, and those others who will obtain the path, at the dissolution moment of craving, when consciousness dissociated from craving is occurring, for them there the truth of path will cease, but the truth of origin does not arise for them there. For those who will obtain the path, at the moment of arising of craving, for them there both the truth of path will cease and the truth of origin arises.
