7. Chronicle of the Buddha Revata

- 1. After Sumana, the Leader named Revata;
Incomparable, matchless, unequalled, the highest Conqueror.
- 2. He too made known the Teaching, being requested by Brahmā;
The defining of the aggregates and elements, the non-occurrence in any kind of existence.
- 3. At his full realisations there were three, at the teaching of the Dhamma;
The first full realisation was not to be told by counting.
- 4. When the sage Revata trained King Arindama;
Then of a thousand koṭis, there was the second full realisation.
- 5. For seven days from seclusion, having emerged, the lord of men;
A hundred crores of humans and deities, he trained in the highest fruit.
- 6. There were three assemblies of the great sage Revata;
Of those who had eliminated the mental corruptions, spotless ones, well-liberated ones of such quality.
- 7. Those who assembled first surpassed the path of counting;
The second meeting was of a hundred thousand koṭis.
- 8. He who was matchless in wisdom, a follower of his Wheel;
He was then diseased, having reached danger of life.
- 9. Those sages who then came to enquire after his illness;
Ten thousand koṭis of Worthy Ones, the third meeting was.
- 10. I at that time, a brahmin named Atideva;
Having approached Revata the Buddha, I went for refuge to him.
- 11. Having praised his morality and concentration, and the highest quality of wisdom,
According to my strength, I gave a cloak.
- 12. That Buddha too declared of me, Revata, the leader of the world;
"Immeasurable cosmic cycles from now, this one will be a Buddha.
- 13. "Having striven in striving, etc. we shall be face to face with him."
- 14. Having heard his word too, I gladdened my mind even more;

I determined upon further ascetic practice, for the fulfilment of the ten perfections.

- 15. Even then, having remembered that Buddha-teaching, I developed it;
I will bring that teaching, which was longed for by me.
- 16. The city was named Sudhaññavatī, the warrior was named Vipula;
The mother was named Vipulā, of the great sage Revata.
- 17. For six thousand years, he dwelt in the house;
Sudassana, Ratanagghi, and Āveḷa, decorated;
Produced by meritorious deeds, three excellent mansions.
- 18. Thirty-three thousand women, fully adorned;
Sudassanā was the name of that woman, Varuṇa was her son.
- 19. Having seen the four signs, he departed by chariot vehicle;
For no less than seven months, the Conqueror strove in striving.
- 20. Asked by Brahmā, the peaceful one, Revata, the leader of the world;
The great hero turned the wheel, at Varuṇa's park, in the glorious house.
- 21. Varuṇa and Brahmadeva were the chief disciples;
Sambhava by name was the attendant of the great sage Revata.
- 22. Bhaddā and Subhaddā were the chief female disciples;
That Buddha too, equal to the matchless, was awakened at the foot of a nāga tree.
- 23. Paduma and Kuñjara were the chief male attendants;
Sirīmā and Yasavatī were the chief female attendants.
- 24. That Buddha, risen to eighty cubits in height,
Illuminates all directions, like the risen banner of Indra.
- 25. Arisen in his body, an unsurpassed garland of radiance;
By day or by night, it pervades a yojana all around.
- 26. For sixty thousand years, life span exists for that long;
Remaining for that long, he helped many people to cross.
- 27. Having shown the Buddha's power, proclaiming the Deathless in the world;
He attained Nibbāna without clinging, like a fire with the elimination of fuel.
- 28. That body like a jewel, that Teaching incomparable;
All that has disappeared, are not all activities empty?
- 29. The Buddha Revata, bearer of fame, attained final Nibbāna in a great city;
There was a wide-spread distribution of relics in those various regions.

The lineage of the Blessed One Revata is fifth.
